PARIS GUIDE

ENJOY THE CITY OF LIGHTS' WONDERS

PARIS 2019

The majestic and charming City of Lights shows how to properly introduce the international design season in September, proving why it is the perfect destination for cultural tastemakers and why its potential for design inspiration is endless.

The city gears up for its design events, where galleries, museums, concept stores and renowned antiques shops get in on the action, and when unexpected launches, exquisite installations and inspiring shows are unmissable. Alongside, key influential professionals from the fields of design, decoration, fashion and art meet up and gather for talks and conferences, setting new discussions topics with forward thinking and taking the upcoming year into the next level.

You never lack great reasons to visit Paris. Great cafes, boutiques, restaurants, good food, good wine and authenticity, this enchanting city has it all. From great buildings, to small streets and charming hidden gardens, you will feel the urge to explore its beauty in every corner.

If you are searching for challenging art, unexpected views and unforgettable cuisine, Paris is your dream land.

ART LOVER GUIDE

Away from the glossy department stores and the touristy area on the Champs-Élysées, Paris is home to charming and narrow streets full of quirky boutiques. The Marais District, where Az-Zine Alaïa worked and lived, is an old yet still trendy and vibrant part of the capital, where the inspiring Rue des Francs-Bourgeois or Rue des Rosiers house numerous art galleries. The Musée Picasso, an art gallery located in the Hotel Salé in rue de Thorigny, dedicated to the work of the Spanish artist Pablo Picasso, includes more than 5,000 works of art.

NOTEWORTHY PARISIAN MUSEUMS

Louvre Museum

The Louvre Museum is unquestionably one of the finest art galleries and one of the best modern art museums in the world. Home to hundreds of thousands of classic and modern masterpieces, the Louvre is the icing on the cake of French culture and a testament to European art history.

Location: Musée du Louvre, 75058 Paris, France

Musée des Arts et Métiers

This 'arts and crafts' museum is, in fact, Europe's oldest science museum, founded in 1794 by constitutional bishop Henri Grégoire, initially as a means to educate France's manufacturing industry in useful scientific techniques. Housed in the former Benedictine priory of St-Martin-des-Champs, it became a museum proper in 1819 – and contains a vast, fascinating and attractively laid out collection of treasures.

Location: 60 Rue Réaumur, 75003 Paris, France

Galleries Nationales du Grand Palais

The huge, sprawling galleries of the Grand Palais were originally constructed for the Exposition Universelle of 1900 – so it's no surprise this place is the definition of grand. The exterior is in the Beaux-Arts style and dominated by an eye-catching steel-framed glass roof. Almost a century after it was built, in 1994, the Grand Palais was closed for some much-needed restoration, but it reopened in 2005 and has since put on huge exhibitions on the likes of Irving Penn, Marc Chagall and Paul Gauguin.

Location: 3 Avenue du Général Eisenhower, 75008 Paris, France

Musée des Arts Décoratifs

Alongside with the Musée de la Mode et du Textile and Musée de la Publicité, this is one of the world's major collections of design and the decorative arts. Located in the west wing of the Louvre since its opening a century ago, the venue reopened in 2006 after a decade-long restoration of the building and with 6,000 of the 150,000 items donated mainly by private collectors. The major focus here is French furniture and tableware. From extravagant carpets to delicate crystal and porcelain, there is much to admire.

Location: 107 Rue de Rivoli, 75001 Paris, France

Musée

The Centre Pompidou

The use of primary colors, exposed pipes and air ducts makes the Centre Pompidou one of the best-known sights in Paris. Pompidou holds the largest collection of modern art in Europe, rivalled only in its range and quality by MoMA in New York. The multi-disciplinary concept of the modern art museum (the most important in Europe), library, exhibition, performance spaces, and repertory cinema was revolutionary.

Location: Place Georges Pompidou, 75004 Paris, France

Musée d'Orsay

The old Belle Époque Orsay train station was converted into the Musée D'Orsay in 1986 to be the home of one of the world's largest collections of Impressionist and Post-impressionist art. Aside from works by Monet, Renoir, Van Gogh and Toulouse-Lautrec, you'll find an elegant collection of decorative arts from the Art Nouveau era and a wide range of 19th-century sculpture.

Location: 1 Rue de la Légion d'Honneur, 75007 Paris, France

Petit Palais

Opposite, on the other side of the road from the Grand Palais, you'll find Petit Palais. Although it was also built for the 1900 World's Fair, its warmly known as Grand Palais' younger sibling. Behind its Belle Époque exterior, visitors can lay their eyes on some of the city's most wonderful fine art and sculptures, including works by Poussin, Doré, Courbet and the Impressionists. Art Nouveau fans are in for a treat downstairs, where you'll find jewelry and oddments by the Belle Époque references Lalique and Gallé.

Location: Avenue Winston Churchill, 75008 Paris, France

Cité de l'Architecture et du Patrimoine

Open since 2007, this architecture and heritage museum impresses specially by its scale. The expansive ground floor is filled with life-size cathedral frontages and ancient buildings, and interactive screens place the models in context. Upstairs, darkened rooms show full-scale copies of medieval and Renaissance murals and stainedglass windows. The highlight of the modern architecture section is the walk-in replica of an apartment from Le Corbusier's Cité Radieuse in Marseille.

Location: 1, Place du Trocadéro et du 11 Novembre 75116 Paris, France

FINEST FRENCH INTERIOR DESIGNERS

Jean-Louis Deniot

Jean-Louis Deniot is a Paris-based architect and interior designer and one of the most influential and best interior designer in the world. Deniot is known for his eclectic interiors that brilliantly combined classic element with contemporary design. His interior design projects are splendidly layered, cleverly combining patterns, textures, colors, modern furniture and fine art pieces from different periods with refined elegance.

Philippe Starck

Philippe Starck is an internationally acclaimed French creator, interior designer and architect that considers having the duty to share his ethical and subversive vision of a fairer planet, creating unconventional places and objects. According to him: "No one is forced to be a genius, but everyone has to take part." Besides his design projects and his relation to world fame, Philippe Starck has a huge humanitarian side – he has a mission to make life better for the largest number of people.

Charles Zana

Based in Paris, Charles Zana's architectural practice creates exceptional spaces all over the world. As one of the best interior designer and architect, he considers his own style as modern classic and that shows in his works, from residential and exhibition design projects. Within his most important design projects were a London's Kensington House Hotel and a Guy Martin restaurant at Paris' Charles de Gaulle Airport.

Joseph Dirand

Joseph Dirand is one of the best interior designers in Paris nowadays. The Parisian architect has made a name for himself by creating linear, monochromatic spaces for luxury brands, like Givenchy, Alexander Wang or Mayfair. He usually works in residential, commercial and hospitality interior design projects with the mastery of few. Joseph Dirand's style is immediately identifiable: a quintessentially French style of unique design combined into otherwise minimalist contemporary interiors design.
